Joint Meeting of the JLUS Policy and Technical Committees for the
Camp Clark 2014 Joint Land Use Study
January 27, 2014
11:00 am

JLUS team leader, Tyson Smith, opened the meeting and everyone in attendance introduced themselves. In attendance: Neal Gerster (Vernon County Commission), Bonnie McCord (Vernon County Commission), Darin Hamelink (MoDOT), Colonel Kennedy (Office of Economic Adjustment), Tom Hissink (Edward Jones), Jennifer Eaton (Nevada Chamber of Commerce), Nicole Garner (Nevada Daily Mail), Everett Wolfe (Vernon County Commission), CPT Joseph Payton (Camp Clark), Randy Marti (City of Nevada), Black Hertzberg (Hertzberg Furniture), Austin Mount (Kaysinger Basin Regional Planning Commission).

Tyson began the meeting by briefly describing the Camp Clark project to the committees. He discussed the background and purpose of joint land use studies and explained the issues of encroachment that can be caused by surrounding communities and the camp itself.

The committees responded with questions regarding:

- Noise level around blast zones: How intense are the noises potentially heard by adjoining landowners?
- Ammunition Supply Point: Will the blast zones in this area be included in the plan?
- Financing: Will this study have a way of preventing people from being eligible for financing in the future if purchasing in the study area?

Tyson also discussed what roles each of the committees play in the project and described what deliverables can be expected at the end of the project. At this time, it was presented that a change be made to each of the committees. Tyson recommended to the group that Randy Marti be moved to the Technical Committee because of his planning knowledge related to the City of Nevada. It was also suggested that Blake Hertzberg be moved from the Technical Committee to the Policy Committee. Both agreed and will continue in the future on the respective committees.

The discussion then moved to the topic of stakeholders and stakeholder interviews. Tyson explained the current list of stakeholders and asked the committees if there were any other groups or individuals that needed to be added to the list. It was recommended by the committees that the following entities should also be identified as stakeholders:

- Barton County Electric Cooperative
- Empire Electric
- Federal Highway
- AT&T
- Fidelity Communications
- County Water & Sewer District # 1

After the stakeholder discussion, Tyson announced the dates that are currently scheduled for these meetings. The committees agreed that these dates were acceptable. It was also decided that the first public meeting will be held on April 22, 2014 at 5:30pm at the Franklin P. Norman Community Center in Nevada. This meeting will be open to the public and will include a polling activity for the public to give input regarding the study at Camp Clark.

Finally, Tyson closed the meeting stating that he would begin to work on the details for the stakeholder interviews and public meetings and would be contacting the committees within the next couple of weeks.

The meeting was adjourned around noon.
